ABOUT BGFC

We seek to close the representation gap with Black girls in media by cultivating the next generation of storytellers and amplifying their stories from "dream to screen to social impact."

We will create a world where there is an equitable representation of Black girls and women in media, and their stories drive narrative and policy change for social transformation.

Black Girls Film Camp (USA) partners with production studios, award-winning filmmakers, festivals, and TV/Film industry influencers to provide an immersive experience in Hollywood, personalized coaching, and a creative community to support Black girls to develop their stories into films.

OUR IMPACT

THE NEED

National data in the US reveal alarming disparities in education, health, and accessibility experienced by young Black girls.

Moreover, only 3% of Black Women direct and write films in Hollywood, resulting in a scarcity of narratives that center Black girls and bring awareness around their authentic lived experiences.

WHAT WE'VE ACHIEVED

- 50 films produced by teen girls
- Community of over 400 girls and women creatives
- Films screened at 150+ festivals, events, and universities
- Over 300 workshops and learning experiences hosted
- Over 500,000 views on social media and streaming platforms
- Over $ 1 million in financial contributions raised to date
- Digital Community of over 27K supporters
- 95% Film School acceptance rate with alumni (USC, NYU, SCAD, LMU, and more)

50 FILMS PRODUCED

WILD DREAMS | FIRE STORIES

Black Girls Film Camp (USA) is a FREE, national, and hybrid 16-week experience (held once a year) where high school girls across the country pitch a story idea, and a final ten are selected to have their short film project produced by the program.

Participants receive free cameras and tech equipment, free software, a personal production team of exemplary creatives contracted out by the camp, an all-expense paid weekend production retreat, and free workshops from award-winning filmmakers and Ph.D. scholars.

THANK YOU!

DR. JIMMEKA ANDERSON CO-FOUNDER, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

I am honored to extend an invitation for your business to become an esteemed sponsor of our impactful work. BGFC is a unique national program that empowers high school-aged Black girls through filmmaking, providing a platform for them to create, share, and celebrate their own narratives. Each year, our camp amplifies the voices of Black girls as storytellers, disrupting underrepresentation and challenging stereotypes within the film industry.

As a sponsor of BGFC, your contribution will directly support our program's mission, including providing equipment, travel expenses, film production costs, and mentorship opportunities for our participants. Our sponsorship levels range from $250 to $2,500 for Small Businesses, and from $5,000 - $50,000 for corporate sponsors, allowing you to choose the level of support that aligns with your company's philanthropic goals.

We would be honored to have you join us in creating a world where Black girls' stories are not only told but celebrated. Together, we can ensure that these young women have the resources and support they need to thrive in the filmmaking industry and beyond.

With Gratitude,
Dr. Jimmeka Anderson
