

WHAT YOU CAN'T SEE

CREW BIOS

DIRECTOR

Jade Nicole Watkins is a 15-year-old honor-roll, dual-enrolled student from Charlotte, NC. A globally minded scholar, she explores the world through film, travel, and storytelling, with a passion for inspiring others through writing, service, entrepreneurship, and kindness. Her motto: "If God is within her, she will not fail." @iamme foreverjade

PRODUCER

Zuri Johnson is an international documentary filmmaker and videographer from Atlanta, GA, and founder of Zuri Connects, a faith-based production company. Her work centers on capturing powerful narratives that glorify God, inspire change, and connect diverse audiences. @zurisstory

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR

Camille Satterwhite Rambert is a 17-year-old filmmaker from Charlotte, NC, and a senior in high school. A five-year BGFC member, former National Alumni Board President, and current Executive Director Fellow, she produces and directs stories that intentionally reimagine Black girlhood. @thecamillejule

EDITOR

Jazmine Bunch is a multimedia storyteller and creative writer from Ahoskie, NC. A self-described "Jazz-of-all-trades," she works across video, writing, and spoken word poetry, earning recognition from Button Poetry and Voyage ATL as an emerging Kingdom storyteller. @jazzonfire_

CINEMATOGRAPHER/DIRECTOR OF PHOTOGRAPHY

Alexxiss Jackson, SOC is a Director of Photography, Camera Operator, and Cinematography Professor at Spelman College. A member of IATSE Local 600 and the Society of Camera Operators, her work spans narrative films, commercials, and music videos for brands including Vogue, Google, BET+, Tyler Perry Studios, Sony Pictures, and more. @alexxissjackson.dop